From Newbury. Follow A4 past Hungerford and through Froxfield. There is a restaurant and garage on R and then a LH bend. Actually, at the bend [about 2 miles from Froxfield] fork L up a hill on a side road for about 2.5 miles to Great Bedwyn. At Great Bedwyn go straight down the road over the rail and canal bridges. Immediately turn R into the wharf car park. Some routing programmes offer a different route but this is usually better. If you come West along M4 go past Newbury to J14 and come South towards Hungerford. Turn R onto A4 by a Total garage and follow A4 past Hungerford as above.

From M4 J15. Take A345 South to Marlborough. Turn L onto A4 and follow up hill, out of town past Savernake Hospital and on through the forest. At the end of the forest there are two bends first R, then L and then a fork R to Great Bedwyn. There is a sign for the station as well as the village at this fork. Follow to T-junction, then turn R and go on. At Great Bedwyn go straight down the road over the rail and canal bridges. Immediately turn R into the wharf carpark.

By train. Services from Paddington via Reading and Newbury. Also from Exeter via Taunton to Bedwyn [railways omit 'Great'] station. May involve one change.
